

Dream Vision Interiors Debuts To Create Immersive Residential Entertainment Space

Experienced set designers open up shop in Orlando, Florida to transform ordinary home spaces into unique and enticing recreational retreats

Orlando, FL (Dec. 3, 2020) – Dream Vision Interiors (DVI), a unique interior design company that creates amazing, award-winning, fun-filled home entertainment spaces has opened up shop in Orlando, Florida. The specialty design company is providing homeowners with immersive experiences right at home, bringing to life a world of fantasy, history and imagination with custom-designed, multi-space environments that include game rooms, home theaters, pubs, jazz clubs, hobby rooms, casinos, soda and ice cream parlors and much more.

Jim and Kris Duffy, co-founders of DVI bring more than 40 years of experience in set design, interior design, and film production into the fantastic new world of high-end home entertainment design. With backgrounds in lighting, art, audio/video technology, model-making, fabrication, painting and special effects, this duo serves as the masterminds behind creating authentic and out-of-this-world dream spaces in homes for families to enjoy. Together, they have received numerous awards, including First Place regional and national awards from the National Association for the Remodeling Industry (NARI), an Emmy Award and dozens of Telly and Addy Awards for their original designs and concepts.

“We are thrilled to debut DVI in Orlando, Florida, which is known for its world-class attractions and themed environments,” said Jim Duffy, vice president and senior designer of DVI. “There’s an amazing talent pool in Central Florida we’ll tap into for artists, fabricators, architects, and technicians on the cutting edge of family entertainment. That’s important to us since we are essentially bringing theme park-style design concepts into the home.”

The hallmark of the company is creating home entertainment centers that tie multiple rooms together into an immersive, cohesive environment. Combining DVI’s obsessive attention to detail, its robust technology capabilities and storytelling talent, the company then adds a layer of personalization to the project by seamlessly incorporating a family’s heritage and personal interests and brings it to life first-hand.

The Duffys have developed an organized process that begins with an extensive family interview to learn the clients’ background and personal interests. They then transform the homeowners’ dreams into reality through a series of design sketches, facade elevations, and floor layouts. Those documents lead to the blueprints and construction phase. Through this method, DVI is capable of transforming residential spaces into town squares, sophisticated lounges, Coney Island arcades and other designs that fulfill clients’ visions. The team at DVI manages the entire process, including the creative design, research, tech installation, architectural plans, construction supervision and decorating. The team makes the process easy, so homeowners can delight in enjoying their fun-filled retreat right at home.
